BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVE.

The day has turned. The good crop of Tonopah after a long and arduous struggle, is now in a position to be marketed at a profit. The market is now open and the price is high.

In the meantime, the business conditions have improved. The market is now open and the price is high. The business conditions have improved. The market is now open and the price is high.

MINING CONGRESS PROMISES GOOD.

Western metal mining will be in the spotlight from the opening session to adjournment of the twenty-fourth annual convention of the American Mining Congress, at Chicago, October 17-22. The west will provide more than the usual quota of "big men" at the convention, and its exhibits will occupy the most prominent places at the national exposition of mines and mining equipment.

W. J. Loring, of San Francisco, president of the Mining Congress, will preside at the convention sessions. Senator S. D. Nicholson of Colorado will speak on Tuesday, October 18, on "A Department of Mines." A national oil shale conference will be held, to be presided over by Dr. Victor C. Alderson and participated in by men from Nevada, Utah, Colorado and other western states.

On Wednesday afternoon, October 19, the entire convention will devote its attention to western metal mining. Among the speakers from whom definite acceptances have been received, and their subjects, are: Sidney J. Jennings, of the U. S. Smelting & Refining Co., "Some Methods for increasing the Use of Silver"; P. S. Caine, president of the Chase Rolling Mill Co., "Brass and Copper Products"; Eugene Wolfe, president of the American Zinc Institute, "Increased Uses of Zinc"; and Charles W. Potts, "American Manganese Resources." Thomas Darcy Humphry, of the Anaconda Copper company, will deliver an address on the copper situation.

Mining law revision, then, which no subject could be more interesting, will furnish the occasion for a genuine debate. Horace V. Winchell, former president of the Institute of Mining Engineers, will speak in favor of revision, and Edison Johnson and Morris Lowry, of Seattle, known to oppose revision, will deliver addresses at the same convention session. Discussion from the floor will follow.

Taxation of metal mines, state and national, will be handled at a special conference, the program of which will include many western speakers. Every governor and every chamber of commerce has been invited to send delegates to this session.

Exhibitors from Colorado, Utah, California and Alaska, as well as Mexico, will occupy the premier positions on the plaza of states and governments. The exhibit of the United States bureau of mines will be devoted exclusively to oil shale and other western resources. Colorado radium will be manifested to tens of thousands of Chicago people and visitors from the eastern states, while a prospectus will register gold quartz and pen placer material in the Alaska exhibit. The exposition will be the biggest show held in the United States since 1913, and the west will be a large contributing factor to its success.

LIMIT ON HUNTING GAME.

During the hunting season this fall, more than 5,000,000 persons, estimates the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture, will go out with a gun into the woods and fields of America. Their going emphasizes the growing need of more adequate and uniform laws to conserve and protect the country's dwindling game supply.

"It has been the practice in many states," the department says, "to issue hunting licenses for the open season to all applicants, with too little regard for the available game supply of any particular area. The hunters may far outnumber the animals hunted within a given section, and under such conditions the extinction of big game especially is inevitable."

The department of agriculture advocates a limited license plan for big game, based on annual estimates of game conditions in each district. This means that the number of big game licenses issued for a given area in one season would depend upon the number of game animals which it has been determined in advance can be spared. Proper administration of this sort should conserve game in the greatest numbers consistent with the reasonable demands for local grazing and other interests and obviate the necessity for establishing perennial closed seasons except on areas being restocked.

HALF CENTURY DEVELOPMENT IS DEPICTED

(By Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 11.—The chief feature of Birmingham's celebration of her fiftieth birthday during the week of October 24-29 will be the historical pageant depicting the half century of development from a group of cornfields in 1871 to the south's leading industrial center in 1921.

Since the first house was built in Birmingham only 50 years ago, the pageant can present only a half-century of the history of the city itself. The early history of Alabama, colonial days and the Civil war period and reconstruction will be grouped in a prelude. The main pageant will consist of a series of separate episodes showing the various periods in the building of Birmingham.

WOMEN OWNING RESIDENCE GET FIRST CHANCE

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 11.—The woman with an apartment, preferably a furnished one, is most in demand as a fiancée, says the Excelsior in its account of an interview with the managers of a Paris matrimonial agency characterized as one of the better sorts. The war widow, if young and agreeable, remarries much more easily than a young girl making her first venture on matrimonial seas.

SHERWIN HOME BLESSED WITH BABY DAUGHTER

The home of J. W. Sherwin in Oakland, who serves as general manager of the West End Mining company, was blessed on Friday morning by the advent of an eight-pound daughter, according to word received here. Mother and infant are reported as doing nicely.
